ness being done according to Airs. Hirsch.

The ward men worked the case so successfully that Mrs. Hirsch says she not only lost the $1,500 she put into the house, but her husband was thrown into prison for three months on a trumped-up charge of gambling, and Gombossy himself, with the help of his friends at the station, got back his house without any trouble and continued to run it as a disorderly place, without the slightest let or hindrance from the police.

"It is not to be wondered, under these circumstances," said Mr. Moss this morning, "that Gombossy gave the police a good reputation, and said he regarded them with the most friendly feelings."

The Sardou fever is as persistent as ever. The French playwright is now alleged to be at work upon a play for Salvini, the younger, as well as for a dozen stars and half a dozen managers. So far, but one Sardou play has materialized, that really bought by Fanny Davenport. Even that is really written for Sarah Bernhardt, Miss Davenport getting the American rights. When will stars and managers "tumble" to their own absurdity. By the bye, Miss Davenport has cancelled a good deal of her time, and will not open her season much before December. This delay is caused by the work that the new Sardou play will entail.

"As the small bills returned to the Treasury were usually old, torn and dirty they were cancelled and orders issued for the printing of others to replace them. During the twelve months hetween September, 1823, and Aug. 31, 1884, there were $8,00,000 worth of $5 bills destroyed. These bills have to be replaced now that the banks want them in exchange for the big bills.

"The period to which I refer covered the greatest stagnancy in business, and it is of interest to note that there were in September, 1823, outstanding $23,000,000 work of $5 bills, whereas in August, 1884, the amount had decreased to $246,000,000 work in $5 bills, whereas in August, 1884, the amount had decreased to $246,000,000 work in the early morning and spaceting quite clever, I do not think my light will have to refer to pay them.
